

The future of money and the impact of fintech and cryptocurrencies

Date: Monday 26th November 2018

Organisers: Jon Danielsson (SRC, LSE Finance), Eva Micheler (SRC, LSE Law)

Venue: Conference Suite, 9th Floor, Tower 2, Clement's Inn, LSE, London WC2A 2AZ

08.45 – 09.15	Registration and refreshments
09.15 – 10.15	John Moore – LSE Econ &amp; The University of Edinburgh Inside money and liquidity (joint with Nobu Kiyotaki)
10.15 – 10.30	Coffee break
10.30 – 11.10	Catherine Schenk – University of Oxford, Faculty of History Historical reflections on the transition between money technologies
11.10 – 11.50	Rosa Lastra - Queen Mary University of London Jason Allan – Humboldt University of Berlin &amp; UNSW Faculty of Law Virtual currencies in the Eurosystem: challenges ahead (joint)
11.50 – 12.30	Edmund Schuster – LSE Law Cloud crypto land: why smart contracts and crypto assets won't change the world
12.30 – 13.30	Lunch
13.30 – 14.10	Igor Makarov – LSE Finance Trading and arbitrage in cryptocurrency markets
14.10 – 14.50	Co-Pierre Georg – University of Cape Town, Economic Research Southern Africa and Deutsche Bundesbank Financial inclusion and technology
14.50 – 15.10	Coffee break
15.10 – 15.50	Jon Danielsson – LSE Finance &amp; Systemic Risk Centre Cryptocurrencies do not make sense
15.50 – 16.30	Eva Micheler – LSE Law &amp; Systemic Risk Centre Money as a technology - a legal perspective
16.30 – 17.00	Drinks and nibbles reception

Free WiFi: Select “The Cloud” from the network list. Open your browser and follow instructions to register/log on.